Custom Laser Cut Wedding Invitation Options

When we say custom, we mean it! Download our file templates to design your laser cut wedding invitations and choose from the options below:

Finishes

- Gloss - For laser cut wedding invitations that feature photographs, gloss is a classic option.
- Matte - If your laser cut cards include elaborate detailing, a matte finish will let them take center-stage.
- Premium Soft-Touch Matte - For a high-end aesthetic and a unique tactile appeal, choose velvety soft-touch matte.
- Premium High Gloss UV - High gloss UV adds depth and dimension, but its reflective nature can make it hard to appreciate fine detailing, so it's best suited for simple laser cut designs.

Design Tips for Laser Cut Wedding Invitations

Wedding invitations should be elegant and tasteful, particularly when incorporating laser-cut detailing—you don't want to have laser cutting and graphics competing for attention. You can't go wrong with a simple minimalist look. Here are some design tips to consider for your laser cut wedding invitations:

- If you're printing on both sides of your wedding invitations, don't forget to take the laser cutting into consideration when creating your design. You don't want to cut through your invitation text!
- Two-sided printing allows you to share a photograph on one side and event details on the other. Jazz up your design by adding scalloped edging or other laser cut flourishes.
- Use free or inexpensive vector graphics in your laser cut wedding invitation design if you need images but don't want to hire a graphic designer.
- Be sure to include RSVP cards when you mail out your invitations. Design custom postcards that coordinate with your laser cut wedding invitations. Save the date cards can also be designed to match your invitations for a cohesive look.
